				In Mexico, children age out of orphanages long before they are ready to transition to independent living. Back2Back invites children who are on the brink of aging out of a children's home to participate in the Hope Program, a Christian residential family-style care program for orphans and vulnerable children. Living in a family-style setting with house parents, students are mentored, supported through scholarships and tutoring, and encouraged to finish high school and college. The Hope Program is a critical alternative for teenagers who would otherwise have limited options.
